DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-9, 11-23, 25-36 and 38-73 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US patent 4699215, Cuiper.

In regards to claims 1-9, 11-23, 25-36 and 38-73, Cuiper discloses a connector, comprising:

a first end adapted to be coupled to a first component (having any convenient shaped, size or function);

a plurality of locking segments (41) that, when actuated, are adapted to secure said first component to a second component (having any convenient shaped, size or function), wherein each of said plurality of locking segments comprises:

a first primary locking shoulder that is adapted to engage a first surface (having any convenient shaped, size or function) on said first component; and a second primary locking shoulder that is adapted to engage a second surface (having any convenient shaped, size or function) on said second component; and a locking mandrel (25, 35, 51) that, when actuated, is adapted to engage each of said plurality of locking segments at at least three discrete, spaced apart engagement areas.

Art Unit: 3679

Note, the first and second components are not considered part of the claimed invention.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/22/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Cuiper fails to disclose the first and second components. The Examiner disagrees. The first and second components are not considered part of the claimed invention, and are only functionally recited. It is well established that a recitation with respect to the manner in which an apparatus is intended to be employed, i.e., a functional limitation, does not impose any structural limitation upon the claimed apparatus which differentiates it from a prior art reference disclosing the structural limitations of the claim. In re Pearson, 494 F.2d 1399, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974); In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967); In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 136 USPQ 458 (CCPA 1963). Where the prior art reference is inherently capable of performing the function described in a functional limitation, such functional limitation does not define the claimed apparatus over such prior art reference, regardless of whether the prior art reference explicitly discusses such capacity for performing the recited function. In re Ludtke, 441 F.2d 660, 169 USPQ 563 (CCPA 1971). In addition, where there is reason to believe that such functional limitation may be an inherent characteristic of the prior art reference, Applicant is required to prove that the subject matter shown in the prior art reference does not possess the characteristic relied upon. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 15 USPQ2d 1655 (Fed. Cir. 1990); In re King, 801 F.2d

Art Unit: 3679

1324, 1327, 231 USPQ 136, 138 (Fed. Cir. 1986); In re Ludtke, 441 F.2d at 664, 169 USPQ at 566 (CCPA 1971); In re Shreiber, ____ F.2d at ____, 44 USPQ2d 1429 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

Applicant argues that Cuiper does not disclose a locking mandrel. The Examiner disagrees. A mandrel is:

1 a : a usually tapered or cylindrical axle, spindle, or arbor inserted into a hole in a piece of work to support it during machining. (Merriam-Webster Online Dictionary copyright © 2005 by Merriam-Webster, Incorporated, retrieved 9/3/2007)

In as much as Applicant's invention meets the definition of mandrel, so does Cuiper.

Applicant argues that Cuiper does not disclose the locking mandrel being operatively coupled to a primary piston. The Examiner disagrees. Cuiper clearly discloses the locking mandrel being operatively coupled to a primary piston (55).

Applicant argues that Cuiper does not disclose the locking segments having first and second shoulders. The Examiner disagrees. Cuiper clearly discloses the locking segments having first and second shoulders (47).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
